Business Administration PhD, Marketing Track

Together, the Graduate Student Handbook and your graduate program handbook should serve as your main guide throughout your graduate career. The Graduate Student Handbook includes university information, policies, requirements and guidance for all graduate students. Your program handbook describes the details about graduate study and requirements in your specific program. While both of these handbooks are wonderful resources, know that you are always welcome to talk with faculty and staff in your program and in the Graduate College.

The central activities and missions of a university rest upon the fundamental assumption that all members of the university community conduct themselves in accordance with a strict adherence to academic and scholarly integrity. As a graduate student and member of the university community, you are expected to display the highest standards of academic and personal integrity.

Here are some resources to help you better understand your responsibilities:

- Academic Honesty
- Academic Integrity Training - Open to all graduate students at no cost
- Plagiarism

Introduction

Upon admission to the College of Business Administration PhD program, the student will be assigned an advisory committee that will assist the student in setting up an individualized plan of study. The objective of the advisory committee is to help students understand the process of completing a graduate education at UCF, provide information on resources that will help them develop academically and professionally, and to define all expectations required to complete the degree program. This handbook also serves as a reference tool to guide graduate students through their graduate program and help students stay on track for degree completion. If you have questions that are not answered in this handbook, consult your Doctoral Program Coordinator or your Academic Advisor.

Curriculum

Please visit the Graduate Catalog to see the current curriculum for our program.

Timeline for Completion

Most students will complete their coursework with full-time enrollment (required) in the first two years of the program. Summer courses usually consist of research hours, comprehensive or readiness exams.

Students are admitted to candidacy after satisfying all general degree requirement coursework and passing the comprehensive exam. After admission to candidacy, the student will be continuously enrolled full-time in dissertation hours (including summer) for the remainder of their program, up to a total of four years with support by the College.

A fifth year of support may be available to those students who have defended their dissertation proposal and are making significant progress toward their final defense. The program must be completed in seven years.

Examination Requirements

Readiness Exam

Students must successfully complete a readiness exam in the first summer.

Candidacy Exam

After the completion of all required coursework, students must successfully complete a comprehensive candidacy exam that includes both written and oral portions. A student will be allowed to retake the exam one time. When the student passes the candidacy exam, they will be eligible to enroll in dissertation hours (MAR 7980). Students must have the candidacy and dissertation advisory committee documentation received and processed by the College of Graduate Studies prior to the first day of classes for the term in order to enroll in dissertation hours for that term.

Dissertation Proposal Examination

After the student passes the candidacy exam, they are eligible to defend a written dissertation proposal in an oral examination before their dissertation committee.

Dissertation Defense Examination

The final defense of the successful dissertation will require an oral examination that concentrates on, but is not limited to, the student's dissertation defense.

SPEAK Exam (for international students only)

Students who are non-native speakers of English and do not have a degree from a U.S. institution must pass the SPEAK test before they will be permitted to teach as Graduate Teaching Associates (position code 9183) or Graduate Teaching Assistants (position code 9184). The SPEAK test is not required for students who will be appointed as a Graduate Teaching Grader (position code 9187). Additional information including how to register for the test can be accessed through the GTA Information section of the College of Graduate Studies website.

Thesis or Dissertation Requirements

Program Guidelines on Dissertation Research

A dissertation is required of all PhD students. Dissertation students are encouraged to be proactive throughout the research process. Effective planning, awareness and use of resources and communication with dissertation committee and other faculty and staff can greatly enhance the dissertation experience and document.

Dissertation Defense Exam: An oral presentation and defense of the final dissertation before the student's advisory committee must be satisfactorily completed before graduation from the PhD program can occur.

University Dissertation Requirements

The College of Graduate Studies Thesis and Dissertation page contains information on the university's requirements for dissertation formatting, format review, defenses, final submission, and more. A step-by-step completion guide is also available on Thesis and Dissertation Services Site.

All university deadlines are listed in the Academic Calendar. Your program or college may have other earlier deadlines; please check with your program and college staff for additional deadlines.

The following requirements must be met by dissertation students in their final term:

- Submit a properly formatted file for initial format review by the format review deadline
- Submit the Thesis and Dissertation Release Option form well before the defense
- Defend by the defense deadline
- Receive format approval (if not granted upon initial review)
- Submit signed approval form by final submission deadline
- Submit final dissertation document by final submission deadline

Students must format their dissertation according to the standards outlined in Thesis and Dissertation Webcourse. Formatting questions or issues can be submitted to the Format Help page in the Thesis and Dissertation Services site. Format reviews and final submission must be completed in the Thesis and Dissertation Services site. The Dissertation Approval Form is also available in the Thesis and Dissertation Services site.

The College of Graduate Studies offers several thesis and dissertation Workshops each term. Students are highly encouraged to attend these workshops early in the dissertation process to fully understand the above policies and procedures.

The College of Graduate Studies thesis and dissertation office is best reached by email at editor@ucf.edu.

Annual Review

Information projected to be entered in 2019-2020.

Teaching Requirements

The requirements for the teaching component of the doctoral degree will be developed with the PhD Coordinator and Department Chair based on the student's experience. Normally, this requirement will be satisfied through teaching a minimum of three credit hours of class instruction under the direct supervision of a faculty member. As appropriate, students will also be required to attend teaching development workshops and seminars.

Graduate Research

UCF has three fundamental responsibilities with regard to graduate student research. They are to (1) support an academic environment that stimulates the spirit of inquiry, (2) develop the intellectual property stemming from research, and (3) disseminate the intellectual property to the general public. Students are responsible for being informed of rules, regulations and policies pertaining to research. Below are some general policies and resources.

Research Policies and Ethics Information: UCF's Office of Research & Commercialization ensures the UCF community complies with local, state and federal regulations that relate to research. For polices including required Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval when conducting research involving human subjects (e.g. surveys), animal research, conflict of interest and general responsible conduct of research, please see the website: research.ucf.edu/ > Compliance.

UCF's Patent and Invention Policy: In most cases, UCF owns the intellectual property developed using university resources. The graduate student as inventor will according to this policy share in the proceeds of the invention. Please see the current UCF Graduate Catalog for details: catalog.ucf.edu/ > Policies > General Graduate Policies.

Financial Support

Financial support comes from both the College of Business Administration and the College of Graduate Studies.

For information regarding financial support specifically for graduate students in the business discipline visit the College of Business website.

Graduate Teaching Assistants

The current financial package for a GTA is a nine-month employment contract from the College of Business for $19,000 and a college-optional assistantship agreement for summer ($6,000). In addition, the student receives full tuition remission from the College of Graduate Studies (but is responsible for local fees) and individual health insurance. The student is supported for four years (with a fifth year option for those students who have defended their dissertation proposal and are making significant progress toward their degree). For assuring timely receipt of financial support, be sure to sign assistantship agreements at least one month before Fall (or Summer) courses begin and register early for classes in time to process tuition remission.

International students who are required to take the SPEAK exam must successfully pass the exam before they can have any student contact, and to be able to remain a PhD degree-seeking student.

For additional details regarding financial support for graduate students in the discipline visit the Scholarships webpage on the College of Business Administration website.

Graduate Student Associations

The Graduate Student Association (GSA) is UCF's graduate organization committed to enrich graduate students' personal, educational and professional experience. To learn more or get involved, please visit facebook.com/groups/UCFgsa/. For individual department or graduate program organizations, please see program advisor.

For a list of student organizations associated with the College of Business Administration visit the Student Organizations webpage.

Professional Development

A graduate student's professional development goes beyond completing course work, passing exams, conducting research for dissertation, and meeting degree requirements. Professional development also involves developing the academic and non-academic skills needed to become successful in the field of choice.

Professional development is gained through the close mentorships developed with faculty during the course of the program. In addition, faculty and administration regularly provide development events such as guest speakers, research talks, and practice interview sessions. It is essential that all PhD students attend these events. The faculty contributing to the PhD program both expect and require full participation from all students.

Students are highly encouraged to submit research manuscripts for publication in conference proceedings. Presenting papers at these conferences is an integral means by which students are acculturated into their discipline. Funding can be requested through the department or the College of Graduate Studies.

Pathways to Success Workshops

Coordinated by the College of Graduate Studies, the Pathways to Success program offers the following free development opportunities for graduate students including workshops in Academic Integrity, Graduate Grantsmanship, Graduate Teaching, Personal Development, Professional Development, and Research. For more information and how to register, please visit graduate.ucf.edu/pathways-to-success/.

Graduate Research Forum

The Research Forum will feature poster displays representing UCF's diverse colleges and disciplines.

The Research Forum is an opportunity for students to showcase their research and creative projects and to receive valuable feedback from faculty judges. Awards for best poster presentation in each category will be given and all participants will receive recognition.

The College of Graduate Studies and the Graduate Student Association invite all UCF students, community, and employers to attend the Graduate Research Forum. For more information, contact researchweek@ucf.edu.

Graduate Excellence Awards

Each year, the College of Graduate Studies offers graduate students who strive for academic and professional excellence the opportunity to be recognized for their work. The award categories include the following:

- Award for Excellence by a Graduate Teaching Assistant
- Award for Excellence in Graduate Student Teaching
- Award for the Outstanding Dissertation

For the nomination process and eligibility criteria, see graduate.ucf.edu/awards-and-recognition/.

Other

Students should take opportunities to present a poster or a topic of research at a conference. To obtain financial support to present at a conference (other than through your program) or to engage in comparable creative activity at a professional meeting, visit the Graduate Travel Fellowship section at graduate.ucf.edu/funding/.

For information about the Council of Southern Graduate Schools (CSGS) thesis and dissertation awards, see their website: csgs.org/ > Awards.

Job Search

UCF's Career Services department offers a wide range of programs and services designed to assist graduate students. These services include evaluation and exploration of career goals, preparation for the job search and job search resources. To learn more, visit their website at career.ucf.edu/.

For career management and job placement services specifically for business graduate students, visit the Office of Professional Development webpage on the College of Business Administration website.

Forms

- College of Graduate Studies Forms and References
A complete listing of general forms and references for graduate students, with direct links, may be found here.
- Graduate Petition Form
When unusual situations arise, petitions for exceptions to policy may be requested by the student. Depending on the type of appeal, the student should contact his/her program adviser to begin the petition process.
- Traveling Scholar Form
If a student would like to take advantage of special resources available on another campus but not available on the home campus; for example, special course offerings, research opportunities, unique laboratories and library collections, this form must be completed and approved.
